DETAILED ACTION

1. It is noted that the "claim descriptors" for claims 4-5 & 10 should be recited as: (currently withdrawn) when addressing these claims in future correspondence.

Claim Objections

1. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informality. In line 5, the phrase "the upper end" should be changed to --an upper end-- thereby providing a distinctly clear antecedent basis for the element. Likewise, in line 9, the phrase "the bottom" should be changed to --a bottom-- for the same reason. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1, 3 & 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In Claim 1, it is now unclear as to whether the applicant is positively claiming a "towel" in combination with the cabinet. The preamble does not specifically claim a towel, e.g. "A towel warmer and dryer cabinet" line 1, that is further substantiated with the claimed recitation of "for hanging a towel..." in line 9; but further down in the claim there appears to be a positive recital of structure (line 12, "integrally connecting said cabinet and said towel and support members together") indicating that the "towel" may now be positively being claimed in combination. Applicant is required to clarify the disclosed claimed material, making the language of the claims consistent with applicant's intent. In claim 1, line 15, the recitation "said open front end" does not have a proper antecedent basis [should this be "open front side" instead?]. Consequently, the remaining claims are rejected because they are dependent upon an indefinite claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Barnsteiner [U.S. Patent No. 2,225,762]. The examiner has taken the position that a towel is not positively being claimed in combination with the cabinet. Barnsteiner (figures 1-11) teaches of a towel warmer and dryer cabinet substantially as claimed as noted in Exhibit A. The structure is capable of allowing a towel to hang downwardly from the support rod towards a bottom of the cabinet and configured to enable movement of the at least one support rod through the open side of the cabinet while maintaining the support rod adjacent an upper end of the cabinet [as viewed when the support rod is minimally retracted from the cabinet].

As an aside, it is further noted that the "rod support members" could be viewed as members (22) of the cited art, while the "support rod" would then be considered as member (24) of the cited art, and the securing means could then be considered as members (14) integrally connecting the cabinet and the support members and configured to enable movement [due to their alignment with respect to each other -along each side wall and in conjunction with the opposite side wall] of the rod through the open side of the cabinet, for example.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed February 2, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In regards to applicant's remarks concerning the mentioning [or lack thereof as professed by applicant] of element "24" in the cited art, note the following: in column 2, lines 18-22 disclose that the "flutes" will support a rack 24 or the like". In regards to applicant's remarks concerning "the positive attachment of the rod support members to the cabinet, which the Examiner acknowledges is not shown or suggested" by the prior art, note the following: the examiner can find no evidence now of record to substantiate applicant's assertion. The examiner has indicated allowable subject matter concerning the securing means when set in the context of a "pivot means" as stipulated in claim 3 for example, but has not stated that the prior art is void of a "positive attachment" in as much as section d) of claim 1 is concerned. Lastly, it is noted that contrary to applicant's assertion that the structure recited in section d) of claim 1, affords movement of the support rod between the positions, the examiner still contends that the language utilized only sets forth that the "securing means" is configured to enable movement of the rod through the open side; as such, it is viewed that the structure supporting the rod in the prior art is capable of affording such movement in as much as no structural elements or aspects are set forth so as to achieve the desired function [hence, claim 3 limitations].

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 3 & 6-9 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
